INSIDE THIS ISSUE:

Brown Bag Series and Student Caucus  2
Collegiate Affairs  3
Workshop Schedule and Fellowship, Teaching, Prize Deadlines  4
Lesbian and Gay Studies Project  5

INSIDE THIS ISSUE:

Brown Bag Series and Student Caucus  2
Collegiate Affairs  3
Workshop Schedule and Fellowship, Teaching, Prize Deadlines  4
Lesbian and Gay Studies Project  5

Director's Note

Though the Center for Gender Studies has been a fixture on campus for the past ten years, very few in our community know how widespread student interest in gender and sexuality is. There are three ways to think about this at the undergraduate level. A small but dedicated number, between 6 and 9 students per year, major in gender studies. (We have only recently implemented a minor in gender studies.) There is another active cohort of about 50 students who populate the student caucus and regularly attend events, especially the Feminist Lives and Queer Trajectories Series, which features speakers who have made their interests in gender/sexuality part of their careers. (This fall the series brought Rabbi Benay Lappe, the first openly lesbian Conservative Rabbi, and activist and writer Judith Levine, author of Harmful to Minors: The Perils of Protecting Children from Sex and My Enemy, My Love: Women, Masculinity and the Dilemmas of Gender.)

However, a much larger group, some 800, took courses cross-listed in gender and/or sexuality last year. As we have expanded our offerings over the past five years, enrollments have remained steady at an average of 25 students per class. This ability to sustain high average enrollments suggests that there remains untapped interest in gender and sexuality on campus.

I ask faculty to take this fact into consideration as they plan their courses for next year.

This winter we would like to restart two popular initiatives that lost significant membership to faculty leave this year: the faculty reading group and the junior faculty working group. Last year’s faculty reading group met once per quarter to discuss readings chosen collectively. Likewise, the junior faculty working group, which included not only assistant professors, but also lecturers and Harper/Schmidt fellows, met regularly to share work and find community. Please contact the Center if you are interested in either or both groups.

We would also like to launch a new project for graduate students interested in film history. With Theaster Gates, arts programming director for the humanities, and the Center for Media Studies, CGS will sponsor an annual film series curated out of the extensive holdings here on campus. Interested students should contact Stuart Michaels. We will hold a meeting in January to discuss details.

In the first event on the winter calendar, the Center for Gender Studies and the Martin Marty Center at the Divinity School are co-sponsoring a conference called “Modernity’s Other: Studies on Jewish Women,” organized by the Feminist Theories and the Study of Religion group, to be held February 12 and 13th in Swift Hall. The conference organizers have asked panelists to explore the topic along both historical and theoretical lines. How did Jewish women’s lives change with the onset of modernity? How are we to understand the Other of the Other, taking Daniel Boyarin’s formulation of the feminized Jewish male as the “other” of modern west as a starting point of investigation?

A second event planned in collaboration with the Slavic Department brings Bozena Karwowska of the University of British Columbia to deliver a talk entitled “The Body in Auschwitz: The Polish Writer’s Experience” on Feb. 21. Professor Karwowska will be drawing on the work of Polish writers Stanislaw Grzesiuk and Zofia Romanowiczowa as well as several archives that are little known in the US. Anyone interested in attending a dinner with Professor Karwowska to follow the talk should contact Gina Olson.
The Gender Studies Student Caucus

This year’s Center for Gender Studies Student Caucus is off to a great start! The Caucus had its first forum meeting in October and had attendees from a wide range of disciplines and programs from across the campus. The forum is a space for those students interested in and supportive of the Center for Gender Studies to connect with other students and voice their hopes and suggestions for the coming year. Some of the fruits of that discussion that the Caucus has decided to pursue this year are:

Social Hour!

Once a quarter the Student Caucus plans to host a student social hour as a way to help people from different disciplines come and feel connected to a community that is dedicated to the study and raising of public awareness around issues of gender and sexuality. Come, relax, and socialize!

We had our first Social Hour on Thursday, November 30th and it was a big success! We had close to 50 attendees throughout the evening, along with free pizza, snacks, beer and wine! We hope to see you next quarter!

Mentorship Program

The Caucus is in the process of establishing a mentorship program as a way to connect undergraduate students with graduate students for academic/career/personal support. If you are interested in being a mentor or mentee please contact Jennifer Vanore at jvanore@uchicago.edu or Cindy Nguyen at ctnnguyen@uchicago.edu for more information!

Undergraduate Symposium

This year the Student Caucus is trying to organize its first Undergraduate Symposium during Winter Quarter. The forum will offer undergraduates from different disciplines the opportunity to present current work or a B.A. thesis and get feedback from other students. If you are interested in presenting please contact Cindy Nguyen at ctnnguyen@uchicago.edu for more information!
Gender and Sexuality Studies Workshop Schedule

The Gender and Sexuality Studies Workshop meets biweekly on Tuesdays to discuss graduate student papers and as-yet-unpublished work from leading scholars. The workshop focuses on any area of gender and sexuality studies and assumes them as embedded in social practices and categorizations. In maintaining the workshop’s interdisciplinary focus we have already scheduled presenters from approximately 10 different disciplines including, but not limited to, English, History, Chinese Literature, Sociology, and Political Science. Workshop meetings are held in the first floor conference room of the Center. The first workshop will be held on Tuesday, January 9th from 4:30 to 6:00 pm. Attendees are expected to read the paper in advance of the workshop. They are available at the CGS website or via our email list. If you are interested in receiving announcements of the workshop and links to the papers, please email jvanore@uchicago.edu. The Gender and Sexuality Studies Workshop has had a strong year so far with a consistently large number of attendees. We have been very happy with student contributions, both as presenters and respondents. Please contact Jennifer Vanore with any questions related to the workshop (jvanore@uchicago.edu).

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Winter 2007</th>
<th>Spring 2007</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>January 9</td>
<td>April 3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jennifer Cole, Associate Professor in Comparative Human Development</td>
<td>Sarah Luna, Anthropology</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>January 23</td>
<td>April 17</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stuart Michaels, Assistant Director for Curriculum and Development and Undergraduate Program Chair, Center for Gender Studies</td>
<td>Robert Wyrod, Sociology</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The History of 10%: Social Science Measures and the Emergence of Gay Identity</td>
<td>Beyond ABC: AIDS, Sexuality and Masculinity in Urban Uganda</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>February 6</td>
<td>May 1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Helen Li, Sociology</td>
<td>Pablo Ben, History, Hormel Fellow, Lesbian and Gay Studies Project</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Why states regulate prostitution: A study of Taiwan’s two regimes’ quest for legitimacy</td>
<td>Male Queer Identities in Buenos Aires, 1880-1955</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>February 20</td>
<td>May 15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kristin Bloomer, Theology, Resident Fellow, Center for Gender Studies</td>
<td>Jingwoan Chang, East Asian Languages and Civilizations, Resident Fellow, Center for Gender Studies</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Being Maataa: Roman Catholicism and Marian Possession in Tamil Nadu, South India</td>
<td>Gender, Health, and Bodily Appetites in Edo Japan</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>March 6</td>
<td>May 29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sarah Potter, History, Dissertation Writing Fellow, Center for Gender Studies</td>
<td>Sam Bergmann, University of Chicago, Psychology and Human Development, Hormel Fellow, Lesbian and Gay Studies Project</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Owning Domestic Space: Renting, Renovating, and Redefining the Family Home in Post-World War II Chicago</td>
<td>(De)Gendering the Family?: Preliminary Findings from a Study of Lesbian Couples Who Cooperate</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>All workshops are 4:30-6 pm, held in the CGS conference room. http://genderstudies.uchicago.edu/genderandsexualitywkshop.html</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Teaching, Fellowships and Prizes

The Center for Gender Studies at the University of Chicago will again make several teaching, fellowship and award opportunities available for the coming academic year:

Stuart Tave Teaching Fellowship in the College, Friday, January 13 at 5 PM.

The Center for Gender Studies is calling for applications by advanced graduate students (ABD) to teach one undergraduate course "of their own design". This course can be taught in any of the three quarters of the 2007-08 term. We invite applications for the Tave Fellowship from all interested Ph.D. students in the Humanities Division. Applicants will be considered to compete for the Humanities Collegiate Division Stuart Tave Teaching Fellowships in the College next year. CGS will recommend up to two applicants who will compete for these fellowships across the Division.

Teaching & Fellowship Deadline Friday March 30, 2007 at 5 PM.

Co-Teaching Core Courses in Gender Studies and Preceptorship. The Center for Gender Studies is calling for applications by advanced graduate students (ABD) to teach in the Gender Studies core. We invite applications for these positions from all interested Ph.D. students in all divisions and professional schools.

Free Standing Course Teaching Fellowship. The Center for Gender Studies is calling for applications by advanced graduate students (ABD) to teach one undergraduate course "of their own design". This course can be taught in any of the three quarters of the 2007-08 term. We invite applications for these positions from all interested Ph.D. students in all divisions and professional schools.

Continued on Page 6...
The Lesbian and Gay Studies Project

Lauren Berlant
George M. Pullman Professor, English
Director, LGSP

The Lesbian and Gay Studies Project sponsors three projects during winter quarter: the ongoing "New Voices" lecture series; a roundtable discussion on "Affect and ACT UP" commemorating the 20th anniversary of ACT UP/New York; and a panel on Queer Feelings.

On Thursday, January 11, 2007, Janet Halley, Royall Professor of Law at Harvard Law School, will discuss her new book Split Decisions: How and Why to Take a Break from Feminism (Princeton 2006) in an open forum moderated by Lauren Berlant, LGSP director. Halley will focus our attention what it might mean, for people doing critical work on sex, gender, and sexuality in their relations to power, to work sometimes outside the presuppositions brought to us through the last 35 years of work in feminism. What conceptual, descriptive, political and/or law-reform possibilities are opened by such a move? What risks does one run -- for oneself? for women? for feminism?

On Thursday, February 8, 2007 we are to be visited by Colin Johnson, speaking on: "The Consolations of Familiarity: Cross Dressing Sunday School Teachers and the Politics of Community in the Deep South." Johnson, Assistant Professor of Gender Studies at Indiana University (and University of Chicago alumnus, class of '96; Ph.D. U. Michigan American Studies, 2003), is a truly interdisciplinary thinker trained in disciplinary history, literary history, and critical sexuality theory. The talk will mobilize material from his forthcoming book, The Little Gay Bar on the Prairie: Gender, Geography and the Invention of Sexuality in Rural America. The case details involve rural Georgia, Erskine Caldwell, and the complicated micro-politics of sexuality, social necessity and obligation that governed everyday life in small towns and rural areas during the early decades of the U.S. twentieth century.

In conjunction with the Pathogeographies exhibit at Gallery 400 curated by Feel Tank Chicago, on Thursday, March 8, 2007 there will be a roundtable discussion on "Affect and ACT UP." Every media report about ACT UP during its heyday noted participants' anger, but few commentators have explored the role that anger, and other feelings, played in the movement.

On Friday, March 9, 2007, there will be a roundtable on The Queerness of Public Feelings, featuring Ann Cvetkovich, Jose Munoz (NYU, Performance Studies), and Lisa Duggan (NYU, American Studies). Moderated by Lauren Berlant. Very exciting, no? Look for announcements and posters.

Location: Harper 103

Thursday, 11 January, 4 p.m.
Janet Halley, Harvard University, Royall Professor of Law
Split Decisions: A Conversation on 'Taking a Break from Feminism' between Janet Halley and Lauren Berlant
Location: Harper 103

Thursday, 8 February, 4 p.m.
Colin Johnson, Indiana University, Bloomington, Assistant Professor, Department of Gender Studies
The Little Gay Bar on the Prairie: Gender, Geography and the Invention of Sexuality in Rural America
Location: Harper 103

Thursday, 8 March, 4:30 p.m.
"Affect and ACT UP"
Panel Discussion
Gregg Bordowitz, Ann Cvetkovich, Mary Patten, Kendall Thomas, Deborah Gould
Location: CGS

Friday, 9 March, 4 p.m.
The Queerness of Public Feelings Panel Discussion
Ann Cvetkovich, Jose Munoz (NYU, Performance Studies), and Lisa Duggan (NYU, American Studies).
Location: CGS

http://genderstudies.uchicago.edu/projects/
The Center for Gender Studies has an enormous amount to offer students interested in gender and/or sexuality as topics of study and approaches to understanding a variety of phenomena from social life to cultural and intellectual production. We offer and cross-list courses from across the university’s departments. We also have a rich panorama of programming to supplement course work: from our Brown Bag series to special lectures and programs. For the second year in a row, we will continue our twice quarterly Feminist Lives, Queer Trajectories series intended to help provide answers to the perennial question: What do you do with a major (or minor) in Gender Studies? This series brings in speakers who have pursued or constructed standard and non-standard careers dedicated to feminist and queer ideas and values. See the website for upcoming talks.

Highlights of Winter Course Offerings in Gender Studies

There are a rich and wide variety of courses in gender and sexuality offered this Winter. In addition to the Gender Studies core “problems” courses in Gender and Sexuality, there are a variety of cross-listed courses from the Humanities and the Social Sciences. There is a sociology course The Family taught by Linda Waite; from English there is Mark Miller’s Reading Freud, and Nathan Wolf’s Cinematic Bodies: Sex, Gender, and Sexuality in Theories of Film Spectatorship. Bozena Shallcross from Slavic is teaching a course on the Modern Polish Novel and an new professor in Comp Lit, Tamara Chin is offering a course, Historicizing Desire which looks at desire and eroticism in Ancient Chinese and Greek texts. Elissa Weaver from Romance is again offering Venetian Women & The Woman Question. For the first time, we have a theater course on Race and Gender in Ensemble Performance, taught by Coya Paz. There is an especially rich set of offerings from outside the U.S. and Europe: Gender, Theory and Ancient Near Eastern History, Gender in Modern Colonial Korea (Kyeong-Hee Choi); Bollywood and Beyond (Rochona Majumdar). Further information on these courses as well as graduate level courses can be found on our website and in the Time Schedule.

Spring Quarter will have at least 15 courses including a section of Problems in the Study of Gender taught by Leora Auslander from History and three advanced graduate student courses in sexuality (see descriptions elsewhere in this newsletter as well as updated information on our website during Winter Quarter).

Majoring or Minoring in Gender Studies

Students interested in learning more about majoring or minoring in Gender/Sexuality Studies should contact Stuart Michaels, Undergraduate Program Chair of CGS at stuartm@uchicago.edu. A full description of both options can also be found in the College Catalog under Gender Studies or on the CGS website.

---

Free Standing College Courses in Gender Studies

WINTER QUARTER

Gender Studies 21802. Viewing Positions, Viewing Pleasures: Sex, Gender, and Sexuality in Theories of Film Spectatorship

Nathan Wolf, English

This course focuses on questions of gender and sexuality in the major theories of film spectatorship of the last 35 years. We will begin with Laura Mulvey’s classic account of Hollywood narrative cinema as structured on the woman’s-to-be-looked-at-ness and the male spectator’s voyeuristic pleasure-in-looking. We will then consider competing models of cinema spectatorship, asking how each account imagines our position as viewers, what pleasures or displeasures are encouraged or disavowed, and how categories of gender and sexuality are reinforced or transgressed in the act of viewing. Weekly topics will include voyeurism; the physiological excitation of “body genres” (melodrama, horror, porn); camp and queer spectatorship; the male body as the object of the gaze; and masochism and shock. Required screenings may include: Rear Window (Hitchcock), Halloween (Carpenter), Videodrome ( Cronenberg), and Far from Heaven (Haynes).

SPRING QUARTER

Sexuality in the Classical World

Matthew Perry, History

Drawing from the perspectives of both modern scholars and historical actors, this course will explore sexuality in the ancient societies of Greece and Rome. It will focus on the relationship between sexuality and gender, and how sexuality influenced an individual’s standing in the community. This course will introduce students to literary and visual depictions of women and men in antiquity, and will explore the ideology of these sources in their historical and theoretical contexts. Students will analyze how Greeks and Romans defined normative categories of sexuality and gender, and how they used these categories as vehicles for social and political critique. This course will examine differences between Greek and Roman beliefs, and will encourage students to consider comparisons between ancient and modern attitudes toward sexuality and gender. Such comparisons are useful for understanding the malleability of these categories and their role in shaping social life.

Imported Intimacies: Women & Transnational Migration

Maria Garrett, Anthropology

Women are on the move as never before in history. The contemporary world is witnessing a pervasive transfer of labor associated with women’s traditional labor and gender roles. This class will examine the ways in which receiving nations absorb the care work of female migrants (often to the detriment of the families such migrants leave behind) and situate these experiences in the context of globalization and transnational migration. The first half of the course will introduce analytic tools of citizenship, globalization, the internationalization of reproductive labor and the influence of race and class in shaping women’s mobility. The second part of the course focuses on women in and from Asia and Latin America. Based on four monographs and related essay we will analyze and examine the roles these women play in transnationalism both at home and abroad, how their lives are changed by larger transformations on local, national, and global levels, as well as their efforts at political mobilization at a transnational level.

Youth, Gender, & Sexuality

Moira Hinderer, History

Who speaks for youth? Do young people have an inherent right to construct their own gender identity and express their sexuality? When parents, community and the state have competing claims over youth, who should decide the behavior standards expected of youth and the educational content to which they are exposed? These are some of the questions that we will address in this class as we examine contemporary debates and historical constructions of youth, sexuality and gender as presented in academic texts, popular literature and film. In particular, the class will focus on competing ideas about youth as innocents in need of protection or as autonomous beings, debates over sex education in public schools, and debates about sources of gender identity in youth.
Schools. Depending on available funds, the Center for Gender Studies may also fund up to two Free-Standing Courses in the College.

CGS Dissertation Writing Fellowship. University of Chicago Ph.D. candidates from all disciplines are encouraged to apply. Any dissertation centrally on matters of gender/sexuality is eligible for this fellowship—special consideration will be given to projects that challenge disciplinary boundaries and that attend to racial and/or economic hierarchy. The successful candidate will receive $15,000 for the academic year 2007-2008 dispersed according to University policy.

Residency Fellowship. University of Chicago graduate students (at all levels) from all disciplines are encouraged to apply. We are seeking two qualified graduate students with dissertations relating to issues of gender and sexuality interested in participating in the Center for Gender Studies while holding residence at the Center. This is an opportunity for graduate students regardless of funding sources.

LGSP Hormel Dissertation Writing Fellowship. The fellowship competition is open to University of Chicago Ph.D. students who are writing dissertations in lesbian, gay, and queer studies. Students in all disciplines are encouraged to apply. The fellowship provides a stipend of $14,000 plus tuition, insurance and fees for the 2007-08 academic year.

Graduate Research Grants in Lesbian & Gay Studies. The Graduate Research Grant competition is open to University of Chicago M.A. and Ph.D. students for support of research (including preliminary research) undertaken for the master’s thesis or dissertation. Students in all disciplines are encouraged to apply. Students may apply for grants ranging from $1,000 to $2,500.

Ruth Murray Prize, Friday April 20 at 5:00 PM. The Ruth Murray Prize will be awarded for the best essay written by a University of Chicago undergraduate or graduate student in the area of women’s studies, feminist criticism or gender studies. Essays may come from students in all division and departments and may take the form of analytic or critical essays, empirical research papers, or personal essays.

See the website for full details.

CGS Contacts—Quick Reference:
Deborah Nelson—Director
ph: 773.702.5022, e: dnelson@uchicago.edu

Gina Olson—Asst Director, Administration and Programming (Budget Oversight, Daily Operations, Fellowships; Events, Collaborations, Co-sponsorships, Outreach, Publicity, Newsletter, Website) ph: 773.702.9936, e: golson@uchicago.edu

Stuart Michaels—Asst Director, Curriculum and Development; Undergraduate Program Chair (Undergraduate Major, Course Cross-listing, Graduate Teaching Opportunities; Fundraising and Development) ph: 773.702.2365, e: stuartm@uchicago.edu

Sharon Kim—Administrative Assistant e:jskim@uchicago.edu

Melissa Rosenzweig—Events/Publicity e: mrosenzw@uchicago.edu

Alison Lefkowitz—BA Preceptor, History of Women at the U of C Project e: alefkovi@uchicago.edu

Jennifer Vanore, Workshop Coordinator, Graduate Representative, Student Caucus e: jvanore@uchicago.edu

Cindy Nguyen, Undergrad Representative, Student Caucus e: ctnguyen@uchicago.edu

The Lesbian and Gay Studies Project
Lauren Berlant—Director
e: lberlant@aol.com

Shannon Ten Broeck—Event Coordinator e: stenbroeck@uchicago.edu

Project Office, ph: 773.834.4509, e: lgsp@uchicago.edu