Gender and Sexuality Studies Working Group

The Gender and Sexuality Studies Working Group welcomes students and papers from any field, discipline, or methodological tradition, as long as the research is relevant to gender and sexuality studies, broadly defined. Submitted work may be partial or rough, including rough drafts of papers or dissertation chapters, work nearing completion, survey designs, literature reviews, or methodological sections. Meeting time consists largely of discussion of the submitted research or work following brief comments from the presenter. We ask that only students, graduate or undergraduate, attend.

January 7: Yenice Ron-El, Sociology, “Consumption and Gender: A Course Proposal”

February 18: Deirdre Lyons, History, “We are Living in a Different Era: Everyday Intimacy and Citizenship in the Post-Emanicipation Period, 1848-1872”

Papers are circulated in advance via e-mail.

If you have any questions, would like to be added to the Working Group e-mail list, or are a person with a disability who may need assistance, please contact the Working Group coordinators, Shann Morrissey and Agatha Stapek at gssworkinggroup@gmail.com

A Note from the Director

Dear Friends of the Center,

The beginning of a new decade is a great time to take stock of what has been accomplished and where we want to go. In 2016, we celebrated our 20th anniversary with two major symposia that brought together founders, former directors and graduate student fellows to reflect on the history and growth of the Center for the Study of Gender and Sexuality. The establishment of the Center in the 1990s and its growth in the 2000s ushered in a new era of growth for the Center. Linda funded faculty projects on a wide array of topics and methods of inquiry, expanded support for graduate student fellows and worked tirelessly on the much-needed renovations at 5733 S. University. Gina Olson was instrumental in these efforts, and in establishing and fundraising for two new endowment funds at the Center. These funds allow the Center to stand on firmer ground and will support graduate research and a new annual lecture series hosting LGBTQ speakers from the public sphere.

The Center added two full-time staff, Tate Brazas, our Program Coordinator (2014), and Bonnie Kanter, our Student Affairs administrator (2018), both of whom are essential to our program.

Gina Olson, our Associate Director, was an integral part of this growth (beginning in July, 2000), as she is today.

Prof. Linda Zerilli joined the University of Chicago in 2000 with half-line appointments in Political Science and Gender and Sexuality Studies. Under her leadership as faculty director, the 2010s ushered in a new era of growth for the Center. continued success and whose stellar work is fostering ever-more growth at the Center. In 2018, Prof. C. Riley Snorton joined the Department of English as Professor and the CSSGS as an affiliate, where he is in receipt of career development funding and serves as Director of Studies. Lucy Pick (Divinity), interim Center director for 2016-17, and Jennifer Wild (Cinema and Media Studies), our Director of Studies in 2016-2019, created new initiatives to expand our graduate certificate program. We now have certificate options with most of the MA programs on campus, including MAPSS, MAPH, SSA, and the Divinity School. Most notably in this decade, however, was the launch of the first interdisciplinary Core sequence related to gender studies: Gender and Sexuality in World Civilizations. Having started with two sections in 2012, we will expand to seven sections in 2020—and begin a new Gender Studies-abroad program in Hong Kong!

As our 25th anniversary approaches in 2021, we are looking to the next decade of the CSSGS and how we will continue to build and expand and expand the possibilities of support we can offer. This year we fund a variety of faculty projects, supporting ongoing faculty research on campus. This year, we are launching a junior faculty research grant to support the work of our newest faculty affiliates, while continuing to foster course development through small research grants. We will continue our efforts to support the hiring of gender and sexuality scholars across campuses, as we witness through our courses and core program that this area of inquiry is deeply relevant to many students coming to the university. Finally, we plan to launch new fundraising efforts in 2021 that will allow us to expand the possibilities of support we can offer. Stay tuned!

In the immediate future—Winter 2020—we have a great schedule of events. We will host the annual Annual Iris Marion Young Distinguished Faculty Lecture, featuring Martha Feldman, the Edwin A. and Betty L. Bergman Distinguished Service Professor, Music, Romance Languages and Literatures, and the Humanities in the College, speaking on “The Castrato Phan- tom: Masculinity and the Sacred Vernacular in Twenty-First-Century Rome.” Prof. Feldman is a cultural historian of European music, with a focus on Italy, and is on the faculty of the Departments of Music and Romance Languages and Literatures. She is the author of several monographs, including Open and Sovereignty: Transforming Myths in Eighteenth-Century Italy (University of Chicago Press). Opera and Sovereignty: Transnational Mythologies (University of Chicago Press) will feature a drag king workshop and a discussion with UChicago Medicine midwives. We look forward to seeing you over the winter quarter.

The conference is co-sponsored by the Center.

Winter also features a variety of speakers and events organized throughout the quarter by the gender and sexuality studies programs at the UChicago Study Abroad and are due January 2020. There will be three courses offered—two GSQ Civ courses (taught by Dominique Bleuler and Kristen Schult) and one CDSQ course (taught by Dominique Bleuler) that students can use to meet the Arts Core requirement. There is a lot of excitement about this new opportunity for our students.

Winter Courses

This Winter Quarter we offer a great selection of courses. For our Foundations course, Sociology graduate student Rebecca Ewert will teach “Foundations of Masculinity Studies.” Our Concepts course for the quarter, “The Life and Afterlife of Cleopatra,” is being taught by Classics PhD student Jordan Johannsen. We have two Pilots Courses available: “On: Women’s Writing” with German professor Sophie Salvo and “Medieval Masculini- ty” with historian Jonathan Lyon. In addition, English professor Lauren Berlant will teach “Advanced Theories of Gender and Sexuality” with Divinity School graduate student Alex Wolfson. Finally, our six sections of GSQ Civ will continue in Winter Quarter, taught by Professors Leora Auslander (History), Sonali Thakur (English), Linda Zerilli (Politics, Gender and Sexuality Studies) and Anthropology PhD student/CSSGS Dissertation Fellow, Emily Boek.

Winter Quarter Feminist Queer Prism

We have two great FQPs, where we consider practices of feminism and queer theory post-degree, planned for Winter Quarter. The first, on Thu, Jan 30 at 5pm in conjunction with the Foundations in Masculinity Theories class, is a workshop entitled “Drag King 101.” Local Drag King Pho чем will be talking about the experi- ence of playing with gender onstage and will also give students a chance to try on different drag personas.

The second FQP will be a talk with two of the midwives from the Family Birth Center at UChicago Medicine as they discuss the wide variety of health and medicine related activities that can be accomplished as a Certified Nurse Midwife. This event will be held on Feb Thu, 27 at 5pm as part of Care@Chicago.

CSGS Field Trip

Rather than stay inside all winter, we’re planning to get out and see some of the gender-related arts and culture opportunities available in Chicago in the next few months. We’ll be going to see the play Race at the Goodman Theatre in February. The play follows the lives of law professors (played by Patrick J. Adams and Scott Michael Foster) and their black law student (played by Marque Richardson) in the years following the Supreme Court decision. The play ties in nicely with the Reproductive Rights section of our Gender and Sexuality in World Civilizations class and is a great opportunity for students to learn about the history and context of the case.

Once again, CSSGS will offer funding for up to four internships at gender- and LGBTQ-related service, educational, or activist organizations in the US. The deadline to apply for funding is February 29, 2020. For more information and a link to the ap- plication, go to https://gendersexuality.uchicago.edu/fellowships/ undergraduate-fellowship-application

Undergraduate Senior Internships for 2020

Undergraduate Major/Minor

Undergraduate students interested in the topics of gender and/ or sexuality are welcome at the Center and have the option to major or minor in Gender and Sexuality Studies. Students can take GSQ coursework as an independent major, or as a double major where their gender coursework can provide a lens through which they study another discipline. A minor is also available for students who do not want the same level of academic commit- ments while also studying another discipline. Currently we have students who are also majoring in Linguistics, Biology, English, Sociology, Cinema and Media Studies and many other areas.

If you have questions about the major or minor and want to talk about how they might fit in with your general academic goals, email Student Advisor Administrator Bonnie Kanter (bonniek@uchicago.edu) to talk through your options. Bonnie will also be holding open office hours Fri, Jan 17 from 11am-12pm and Fri, Feb 21 from 1-3pm in the Community Room at the Center (5735 S University Ave). Stop by to get questions answered (and there will be treats)!

Graduate Student News

Our Graduate Certificate continues to expand! This Autumn we added MAPSS and the MHDV program to the certificate and忘记了 the requirement that students must have completed the necessary requirements to meet the Arts Core requirement. This Autumn we have two PhD students available for the certificate option. This past quarter, two PhD stu- dents received the CSSGS Certificate: Lara Janson (Sociology) and Isaias F. Gonzalez (Romance Languages and Literature). Applications are currently open for Dissertation/Residential Fellowships (deadline: February 16, 2020) and graduate teach- ing (deadline: March 1, 2020). For more information, please go to https://gendersexuality.uchicago.edu/fellowships/ or contact Bonnie Kanter at bonniek@uchicago.edu or 773-702-2365 for more information.

A Note from the Director

Dear Friends of the Center,

The beginning of a new decade is a great time to take stock of what has been accomplished and where we want to go. In 2016, we celebrated our 20th anniversary with two major symposia that brought together founders, former directors and graduate student fellows to reflect on the history and growth of the Center for the Study of Gender and Sexuality. The establishment of the Center in the 1990s and its growth in the 2000s staked a claim for feminist and queer scholarship at the University of Chicago under the leadership of professors Leora Auslander (History), Lauren Berlant (English), Rebecca West (Emerita, Cinema and Media Studies/Romance Languages), George Chauncy (former-ly of History), Deborah Nelson (English), and Jane Dailey (History). A space for scholars at all stages who took up gender and sexuality as an object of inquiry, the Center has developed a curriculum, established an undergraduate major and minor, and later a graduate certificate, and supported faculty and student research by hosting many significant programs and conferences.

Gina Olson, our Associate Director, was an integral part of this growth (beginning in July 2000), as she is today. Prof. Linda Zerilli joined the University of Chicago in 2008 with half-line appointments in Political Science and Gender and Sexuality Studies. Under her leadership as faculty director, the 2010s ushered in a new era of growth for the Center. Linda funded faculty projects on a wide array of topics and methods of inquiry, expanded support for graduate student fellows and worked tirelessly on the much-needed renovations at 5733 S. University. Gina Olson was instrumental in these efforts, and in establishing and fundraising for two new endowment funds at the Center. These funds allow the Center to stand on firmer ground and will support graduate research and a new annual lecture series hosting LGBTQ speakers from the public sphere.

The Center added two full-time staff, Tate Brazas, our Program Coordinator (2014), and Bonnie Kanter, our Student Affairs administrator (2018), both of whom are essential to our
